Rev. J. H. Lewis was elected Moderator and Rev. James Haynes and Elder Gilkerson were made temporary clerks. The minutes of last stated meeting were read and approved.

Mr. H. M. and Absaloan Sydentricker were introduced by Rev. M. L. Lacy as candidates for the gospel ministry. After satisfactory examination they were received under the care of this Presbytery. The for-mer is a member of the Frankfort church, and the latter is in connexion with Lewisburg church. The various committees were appointed.

The reception of the reports of the various standing committees was appointed as "order of the day." A call for the pastoral services of licen-ciste H. Hamilton from the churches of Liberty, Baxter, and Huntersville, of Pocabontas county, was laid on the table. Presbytery took recess for divine worship Sermon by Rev. E. Eifls. Text, John 5:42.

This church is now under the pastoral oversight of Rev. George T. Lyle, of the Valley family of that name. He was preceded in this office by Rev. R. R. Houston, Rev. Mr. Custar, now of Ohio, but still on the roll of this Presbytery. This was one of the missionary "occasional" appointments of that great and good man Father McElhenny, whose "works are following him." Here he held occasional meetings of two or three-days' length for some years, and two or threedays' length for some years, and was finally appointed by Presbytery, in connection with others, to organize the church on the 17th-day of _____, 1860.

This neighborhood is known as the "Irish Corner." It is said that Father McElhenny would sometimes give us his appointments thus: "I will preach at Lewisburg on Sunday morning, at Union at night, and in the corner on Monday night." No man was "more abundant in labor' than he. " Many a star will he have in the crown of his rejoicing." May God of his infinite mercy give to Greenbrier Presbytery some more McElhennys. Some one ought to be appointed by this

This church now has upwards of forty members, five elders, and four deacons. The community is thoroughly church going, and may be considered theologically of the "Blue Stocking" stripe. Mr. Lyle has a flourishing school under his charge, and he preaches every alternate Sabbath to this and Carmel congregation located near the Gap mills. So you see he is full of make Gap mills. So you see he is full of work, like his worthy predecessor or pioneer in this field. May the mantle of his Elijah fall upon him and make him a power for good in his works. He has now one element of success-that is, hopefulness-and such a church-going people as be has is enough to encourage his SPECIALITY OR SPECIALITY .- The New York Journal of Commerce happily combines general instruction for its readers with market reports and speculations in regard to growing crops. The Journal recently decided that the word "specialty" is the correctterm to be used in describing a special JUST RECEIVED, a supply of LADIES' and GENTS' TRUNKS. Also, a lot of very fine SATCHELS for ladies and gents. My stock of LADIES', GENTS', MISSES', and CHILDREN'S SHOES it very complete. A call solicited at 909 Main street, between Ninth and Tenth.

JOHN C. PAGE. business or hursuit, instead of the word speciality." A correspondent, in taking Assue with the Journal on this decision, gives some interesting information on the subject. He says that specialty, as an old English law term, is properly applied to a class of obligations, and is used in that sense by lawwriters at the present time. Specialty, he says, is from the French specialite, and denotes a special business or pursuit; that it was arst brought into use by French importers as far beck as 1840, and was used in that form until 1860. In 1869 the word appeared in the suplement to Webster's Diotionary as specially, with both definitions as tionary assenceatty, with both definitions as above given. In the latest addition he says that both words appear, each with its correct definition. He considers the words as distinct as realty and reality, personalty and personality, and hopes that as the new edition of Webster supplants the old, there will be a gradual return to the word "speciality" in the printing offices, and thus as forming in the printing offices, and thus andformity in the written and spoken word be secured.

Listening.

BY MARKET PRESCOTT SPOFFORD. Her white hand flashes on the strings; Sweeping a switt and sliver chard; And wild and strong the great harp rings Its throng of throubing tones abroad; Music and mountight make a bloom Inroughout the rich and sombre room.

Oh sweet the long and shivering swells,
And sweeter still the lingering flow,
Delicious as remembered bells
Dying in distance long ago,
When evening winds from heaven were blown, And the heart yearned for things unknown:

Across the leafy window-place
Peace seals the statuless sapplire deep;
One sentry star on outer space
His quenchless lamp hits, half asleep;
Peace broods where falling waters flow,
Peace where the heavy roses blow.

And on the windless atmosphere
Waft all the fragrances of June;
The Summer night is hushed to hear
The passion of the ancient time:
Then why these sudden tears that start;

Ah, listen! We and all our pain

Are morful, and divine the song!
Idiy our topmost height we gain—hit spurns that height, and far along
Seeks in the heavens its spleudid mar.
